MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Michigan State University

Founded in 1855, Michigan State University (MSU) has been recognized for 10 consecutive years as one of the top 100 universities in the world by Shanghai Jiao Tong University in its Academic Ranking of World Universities. The 2012 rankings place MSU among the world's top 100 universities in six fields: economics/business, social sciences, life and agricultural sciences, physics, computer science, and engineering/technology and computer sciences. U.S. News & World Report's 2012 edition of American's Best Colleges ranks MSU 28th among the nation's public universities. MSU has an enrollment of more than 48,000 students, including over 36,000 undergraduate students.

MSU offers more than 200 programs of study for undergraduates and graduate students, as well as a law school and three medical schools. There are numerous highly ranked programs including business, accounting, hospitality business, packaging, education, advertising, journalism, economics, communication, and criminal justice. Academic merit scholarships are also available for undergraduate international students through the Office of Admissions. The Honors College at MSU is one of the nation's oldest and most distinctive university honors programs. MSU also offers opportunities for undergraduate students to participate in research projects.

MSU is one of the top public universities in the U.S. for both study abroad opportunities and international student enrollment. MSU is home to nearly 7,000 international students, scholars, faculty members and researchers representing more than 130 countries. Advisers who are aware of the demands associated with the concerns of international students are available on campus.

MSU offers a comprehensive array of services on campus, including a Student Health Center, exercise facilities, and the largest single-campus residence hall systems in the U.S. Residence halls are organized into five neighborhoods. Halal dining options are available.

MSU is located in East Lansing, Michigan, once voted as one of the "friendliest cities" in the United States.

DVC

DIABLO VALLEY COLLEGE

Diablo Valley College (DVC)

Would you like to study and live in California? Diablo Valley College (DVC) is a great place to start your Bachelor degree or to do a GAP year to study whatever interests you an academic year. Some of the courses and majors you can study at DVC are IT, Engineering, Architecture, Business, Journalism, Sports Medicine, Athletic Training, Digital Media and Culinary Arts. DVC offers the first two years of the American Bachelor Degree. After completing two years at DVC students may transfer into the 3rd year of a four year university.

2 years at DVC +2 years US University = Bachelor Degree

DVC guarantees its students admission to some of the best universities in the US, such as the Universities of California (UC): UC Davis, UC Santa Barbara, UC Irvine and UC Santa Cruz. In addition, DVC is the number 1 transfer school to UC Berkeley, which is ranked at the number 1 public university in the US. Besides California universities, our students transfer to universities all over the US such as John Hopkins University, Cornell, University of Texas Austin, Boston University and many more.

DVC's tuition fees are among the lowest in the USA. International students' tuition fee is only @$ 7,500 a year, so you can save thousands of dollars on the first two years of the Bachelor.

DVC does not require an entrance exam, such as the SAT. Nor do you have to provide the SAT when you transfer to the University of California or any of the California State Universities. The entry requirements are a high school graduate or you must be 18 years old.

DVC is located in the beautiful San Francisco Bay Area. DVC offers shared apartments very near campus and family homestay accommodations.

English Language Center: The International Education Center (IEC) at DVC offers international students English language courses to prepare them to enter DVC. Students who complete the highest level English course at IEC can enter DVC without having to take the TOEFL or IELTS.
