

English Access Microscholarship Program

Graduating 2007-2009 Access Class: Celebrating English in their own Words

“The Access program is a very big chance for students. It helped us learn a lot about the American culture. It taught us how to speak and how to write and how to make conversation with other people in English, which will help us in the future: maybe at university and at work.”

Marah, a 2009 Access Graduate.

“Access is a great program as it helped us meet a lot of new people... It changed my life. It gave me a new life; I can't remember how my life was like before it. I can't believe how much my handwriting has changed. Now I can write anything I want in English... Now I can even make out whole words when I listen to a conversation in English. Before Access, I could barely make out random letters. This is very great.”

“I think students should take the ACCESS program not only as an English language course, but also as a challenge. It'll make us proud that we had been a part of the Access...”

Mo'men, a 2009 Access Graduate.
